

Views on Justice in Action: Photos by Law Students A Law Commission of Canada Photo Collection

The Law Commission of Canada invites law students across the country to submit a photo before April 1, 2025, to be included in a compelling collection of images illustrating justice in action.

As you know from your studies, law evolves hand in hand with society, constantly changing in ways big and small, fast and slow, broad and narrow. Where do you, as law students, see law in everyday life? Where do you see justice in action? How does what you see relate to why you are studying law and the contributions you hope to make with your law degree in hand? Please share an image as you begin to imagine your path beyond law school.

Collected by the Law Commission, your photos will serve as an inspiring portrait of the curiosity and commitment of today's law students and tomorrow's lawyers. Viewers will learn about law in our everyday lives, issues in need of attention, and ways in which individuals and communities work for justice.

Accepted photo submissions accompanied by captions will be compiled and posted on the LCC website, as well as shared on its social media channels in spring 2025.

The Commission also plans to create a small exhibit of selected photos to be shared with the public. All participants will be entered into a draw to win one of five $100 gift cards.

How to participate:

- Students must be enrolled in a JD, LLB, LLL, BCL or LLM program at a Canadian university at the time of submission of their photos.
- Send high-resolution photos between 11 October 2024 and 1 April 2025 to comms@lcc-cdc.gc.ca
- Photos can be submitted in black and white or in colour, with landscape or portrait orientation.
- Photos must be accompanied by a caption of up to 150 words, in either English or French, explaining how the image illustrates a space or way in which students hope to contribute to law and society. Students are invited to include versions of their text in any additional languages in which they are able to write.
- Submissions can be made individually or as part of a team of up to 3 students. If the submission is made on behalf of a team, please indicate the names of all members.
- It is the responsibility of participants to ensure that any individuals featured in their photos have consented to their publication.
- The LCC reserves the right to refrain from publishing photos at its discretion.
